

THE BYSTANDER
LONDON, ENGLAND
24 APRIL 1934
(page 135)

GOING OUT TO GOINGS-ON
"The Bystander" in Society

For those who expected to see Aleister Crowley turn the opposing counsel into a white rabbit, the recent "magic" case in the High Courts must have been a disappointment. I watched Mr. Guy Tooth's expression as he sat on the jury; it was just as serious as when he was playing chemin de fer in the Casino at Le Touquet the week before.