

LOS ANGELES TIMES
LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA
13 JULY 1950

YESTERYEAR IN THE TIMES

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

NEW YORK—At 4:32 a.m. Aleister Crowley, an Irishman and a poet, rose up in a launch floating a few feet from Bedloe's Island and proclaimed the independence of Ireland and war on England. Then he tore up his British passport.