

THE SWORD OF SONG.

- established — see Huxley, H. Spencer, Keenan, Reuss, Lippert and others—and his orthodox translator's infuriated snarls (in brackets) when he suspects this tendency to accept facts as facts.
- The Questions of King Milinda 40-45, 48, 67, 86-89, 111, 132.
- Gautama Buddha.
Browning : Dramatic Romances.
- Browning wrote about 200,000 lines.
The imaginary Aunt Sally for the poetic cocoonist.
And many an eel, though no adept In God's right reason for it, kept Gnawing his kidney half a year." Shelley : Peter Bell the Third.
- Note the altered value of the metaphor, such elasticity having led Prof. Blümengarten to surmise them to be indiarubber trees.
- Two Poets of Croisic, CLII. 1 and elsewhere.
Inn Album. l. 143. "Simpkin" has nothing to do with the foaming grape of Eastern France. See Agamemnon. (Browning's translation) preface.
- May be scanned elsehow by pedants. Cf Swinburne's curious scansion : Ἀριστοφῆνης. But the scansion adopted here gives a more creditable rhyme.
- Aristophanes Batrachoi.
- This line was suggested to me by a large holder of Westralians.
"Christmas Eve and Easter Day."
Mathematician and physicist of repute.
See Dictionary of National Biography.
- As far as they would let me. I know some
- 6 Soul went down
- 7 The metaphysical lotus-eyed
- 10 Childe Roland
- 11 Two hundred thousand Trees
- 13 Your Reverence
- 16 "God's right use of it"
- 17 One tree
- 27 "Truth, that's the gold"
- 28 "I, you, or Simpkin"
- 36 Aischulos
- 40 Aristobulus
- 42 Βατραχοποιήματα
- 46 Mine of so many pounds—pouch even pence of it?
- 47 Something easier
- 51 Newton
- 54 Faraday
- 64 I, of the Moderns, have alone Greek

NOTES TO ASCENSION DAY.

149. A Barba Senioris Sanctissimi pendet omnibus ornatus omnium : & influentia ; nam omnia appellantur ab illa barba, Influentia.
151. Hic est ornatus omnium ornatum : Influentie superiores & inferiores omnes respiciunt istam Influentiam.
152. Ab ista influentia dependet vita omnium.
153. Ab hac influentia dependit coeli & terra ; pluvie beneplaciti ; & alimenta omnium.
154. Ab hac influentia venit providentia omnium. Ab hac influentia dependit omnes exercitus superiores & inferiores.
155. Tredecim fontes olei magnificentie boni, dependet a barba hujus influentia gloriose ; & omnes emanant in Microprosum.
156. Ne dicas omnes ; sed novem ex iis inveniantur ad infectenda judicia.
157. Et quando haec influentia aequaliter pendet usque ab precordia omnes Sanctitates Sanctitatum Sanctitatis ab illa dependet.
158. In istam influentiam extenditur expansio aporrhoeae supernae, quae est caput omnium capitum : quod non cognoscitur nec perficitur, quodque non norunt nec superi, nec inferi ; propterea omnia ab ista influentia dependunt.
159. In hanc barbam tria capita de quibus diximus, expandantur, & omnia consociantur in hac influentia, & inveniuntur in ea.
160. Et propterea omnis ornatus ornatum ab ista influentia dependet.
161. Iste literae, quae dependet ab hoc Seniore, omnes pendunt in ista barba, & consociantur in ista influentia.
162. Et pendunt in ea ad stabiendas literas alteras.
163. Nisi enim illae literae ascenderent in Se-