

THE RUTLAND DAILY HERALD
RUTLAND, VIRGINIA
12 JULY 1923
(page 4)

LITERARY SAUNDERINGS.

Unusually well written, "The Diary of a Drug Fiend," by Aleister Crowley, which the Duttons have just published, will perforce challenge comparison with that classic of pathological literature, De Quincey's "Confessions of an Opium Eater." And it will come out of the comparison very well indeed.