

THE PSEUDO-OCCULTIST.

Published in the July 1914 issue of the Occult Review. This is an excerpt from Crowley's "AHA!" originally published in the Equinox Volume 1, Number III.

THE tallest peaks most straitly hide
With clouds their holy heads. Divide
The planes! Be ever as you can
A simple honest gentleman!
Body and manners be at ease,
Not bloat with blazoned sanctities!
Who fights as fights the soldier-saint?
And see the artist-adept paint!
Weak are those souls that fear the stress
Of earth upon their holiness!
They fast, they eat fantastic food,
They prate of beans and brotherhood,
Wear sandals, and long hair, and spate,
And think that makes them Arahats!
How shall man still his spirit storm?
Rational Dress and Food Reform!!
